RALLY IS IRRESPONSIBLE

(Caledonia, Ont) The Ontario Provincial Police is preparing for another rally being organized for this weekend. This proposed rally is “irresponsible, provocative and at the end of the day, people will see it for what it is, mischief making” states Commissioner Fantino.

The OPP is convinced that the majority of Ontario citizens understand the fragile situation in Caledonia and are aware that if required, a police line/safety zone will be in place at the proposed rally in Caledonia on January 20 2007.

“The Ontario Provincial Police will be present to maintain the peace at all costs and any lawbreakers will be dealt with” says Fantino. “Most people in the communities would like to continue on with their weekend routine and these types of events make it a problem for them to do so.”

Individuals considering increasing tensions or challenging the police line/safety zone should be aware that enforcement will be strict in an effort to maintain order and keep the peace. Lawlessness will not be tolerated.

Once again, the OPP ask you to do your part and stay away from the rally area completely.
